on my personal knowledge, as well as upon information provided to me by experienced JND employees, and if called upon to do so, I could and would testify competently thereto.

CAFA NOTICE

3. On February 10, 2017, JND mailed a cover letter (including a list of case documents) and a CD-ROM containing PDF copies of certain case documents required under the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 ("CAFA"), 28 U.S.C. § 1715 (together with the cover letter, the "CAFA Notice") to 60 Attorneys General and other appropriate federal and state officials advising them of the settlement. A true and correct copy of the cover letter and list of case documents is attached as Exhibit A.

CLASS MEMBER DATA

- 4. On or about March 13, 2017, JND received a number of spreadsheets containing, among other information, the names and addresses of individuals identified as Class Members. The spreadsheets contained contact information for 60,670 Class Members, of which 5,737 had been returned as undeliverable following the initial notice mailing. The data therefore contained 54,933 potentially deliverable Class Member records.
- 5. Prior to mailing notices, JND updated Class Member address information using data from the National Change of Address ("NCOA") database. After these updates, the mailing data was de-duplicated, leaving a total of 54,261 Class Members with a mailing address ("Class Mailing List"). This Class Member data was promptly loaded into a database established for this Action.

NOTICE MAILING

6. On March 31, 2017, JND mailed a postcard notice containing a taxi cab voucher code ("Notice") via first-class regular mail to the 54,261 addresses for the Class Members identified through Defendants' records. A sample of the Notice is attached hereto as Exhibit B.

7. As of the date of this Declaration, JND has tracked 6,181 Notices from the original mailing that have been returned to JND as undeliverable at the address provided. JND re-mailed a total of 396 Notices to forwarding addresses provided by the U.S. Postal Service. Of the Notices that were re-mailed, 24 have been returned to JND as undeliverable. After all mailing attempts, there were 48,452 class members whose Notices were not returned.

PUBLICATION NOTICE

- 8. On March 30, 2017, and April 6, 2017, JND caused a publication version of the legal notice ("Publication Notice") to appear in The Seattle Times. Copies of the Publication Notice, as they appeared in each edition of the paper, are attached as Exhibit C.
- 9. The Publication Notice informed readers of the basic details of the Settlement, and directed them to the website and toll-free number, by which they could obtain a copy of the Notice, submit a Claim Form, or ask additional questions about the Settlement.

WEBSITE

10. On March 29, 2017, JND established a dedicated information website (www.taxitextsettlement.com) which hosts copies of important case documents, answers frequently asked questions, and provided administrator contact information for mail or e-mail contact. As of the date of this Declaration, the settlement website tracked 5,981 page views, and 260 case document views. A single visitor to the website can register multiple views.

OBJECTIONS

- 11. The Notice informed recipients that any Class Member who wanted to object to the approval of the Settlement could do so by submitting a written statement to Class Counsel on or before May 30, 2017.
- 12. As of the date of this Declaration, JND did not receive any objections to the proposed settlement.

What is the lawsuit about?

A proposed settlement has been reached with Orange Cab Co., Inc. and RideCharge, Inc. ("Defendants") in a class action lawsuit that claims, among other things, that RideCharge sent an Orange Cab dispatch notification text message without prior express consent to cellular telephones in violation of state and federal law. Defendants have agreed to provide taxi ride Vouchers and cash payments to eligible Settlement Class Members, and other relief, to resolve the claims in this lawsuit.

Why did I Receive a Notice?

Defendants' records show you may be included in the Settlement Class which includes all persons or entities who received at least one Orange Cab dispatch notification text message on their cellular telephone from RideCharge.

Settlement Class Members whose names and addresses were identified have been sent a $12 Voucher on the reverse side of this notice. Settlement Class Members who submit a valid Claim Form will also be eligible to receive a cash payment of $48, as well as a $12 Voucher if they were not sent one earlier.

How do I claim a payment, and how do I get a Voucher if a Voucher was not sent to me?

Go to www.taxitextsettlement.com and file a claim online or download, print, complete, and mail a Claim Form to the Settlement Administrator. Claim Forms must be submitted or postmarked by May 30, 2017.

the next 11 months. There is a two-year renewal option at $5,000 per month once the first year is up.

The deal does not require East, listed as the deal's project manager for CBE, to register as a lobbyist even though her scope of work entails "the development of relationships with key elected officials, department directors, agency staff and others."

McGraw said the nature and relatively low volume of the work East is doing does not by law require lobbyist registration.

"We really just don't do the same amount of volume that the city and the county do at general purpose government," he said. "They're spending a lot of money on a lot of different issues. Whereas we as a special purpose government have a few issues comparatively that we get involved in."

A Puget Sound Business Journal story reported that the Port had given East a list of essential strategies for supporting KeyArena redevelopment while opposing the Sodo project. Six weeks later, she returned with a draft agenda for a meeting with the Port on KeyArena, developing a "coalition approach" to generating support for its redevelopment.

McGraw said Port commission president Tom Albro was not involved in negotiating or approving the contract. That was handled by the Port's local Seattle lobbyist, Lindsay Wolpa, and a group of staffers.

Last week, Albro said he had recused himself in January from all KeyArena discussions because his company has a 10-year city contract to manage the Seattle Monorail. One company expected to submit a proposal to renovate KeyArena, the Oak View Group of Los Angeles, has said the Monorail factors into its transportation and parking mitigation plan.

A second company that has said it will submit a KeyArena proposal — Anschutz Entertainment Group, also of L.A. — is expected to incorporate the Monorail into its plans.

Albro has announced he won't seek re-election this fall.

He has not been accused of ethics violations, and the city has no plans to alter his contract or the KeyArena proposal process. City officials had known for years of Albro's Monorail ties, and an Oak View Group spokesperson said last week the company was told ahead of time of his potential conflict.

Proposals to renovate KeyArena are due April 12.

The Port has long opposed a rival project pitched in Sodo District by entrepreneur Chris Hansen and has actively campaigned against it for years using paid lobbyists, executives and other Hansen also employs two of Seattle's best-connected lobbyists — Rollin Fatland and Lynn Claudon — who also have met privately with city officials the past few years. On Jan. 6 Fatland made a public-records request asking the Port to release all documents pertaining to its CBE contract.

Those documents subsequently were released to Fatland and published on the Port's website. They were then picked up on by some local broadcast media.

As for spending public money on a CBE contract that supports private KeyArena ventures over Hansen's efforts in Sodo, McGraw said the Port views it as protecting the public's interest. McGraw said the Port believes it is protecting working-class jobs by opposing industrial lands being redeveloped for a Sodo arena.

McGraw added the CBE contract money is relatively low in the overall scheme of consulting deals done by the Port annually. He could not give exact details when asked about how the CBE contract compares with other deals, nor say how much of it involves direct KeyArena promotion compared with other industriallands work.

No. 1 Johnson injures back in fall, unsure for tournament

THE MASTERS |

Seattle Times news services

AUGUSTA, Ga. — Masters favorite Dustin Johnson took a serious fall on a staircase Wednesday and injured his lower back, and his manager said it was uncertain whether the world's No. 1 golfer would be able to play in the tournament.

It was a stunning development on an otherwise quiet day at Augusta National, where the course was shut down at 1:30 p.m. because of inflammatory medication

The real calamity struck a few hours later.

David Winkle, his manager at Hambric Sports, said Johnson fell on the stairs at the home he is renting in

"He landed very hard on his lower back and is now resting, although quite uncomfortably," Winkle said in an email. "He has been advised to remain immobile and begin a regimen of antiand icing, with the hope of being able to play tomor-

What might help Johnson is that he is in the last group for the opening round, scheduled to tee off at 11:03 a.m. PDT with twotime Masters champion Bubba Watson and PGA champion Jimmy Walker.

Johnson had been scheduled to attend the Golf Writers Association of America annual dinner Wednesday night to accept its award as male player of the year. He was coming off a season in which he won the U.S. Open for his first major, was voted PGA Tour player of the year for the first time, won the PGA Tour money title and captured the Vardon Trophy for the lowest adjusted scoring average.

Johnson, 32, rose to No. 1 starting with the first of three straight victories, the first player to do that going into the Masters in more than 40 years. Two of those titles were World Golf Championships, and his undefeated week at the Match Play made him the first player to capture all four of the WGCs.

Par 3 Contest canceled

The popularity of the Masters Par 3 Contest wound up costing the honorary invitees a chance to play. The select group includes those who have won any of golf's other three major championships or the U.S. or British amateurs, but not the Masters.

While still invited to Augusta National, the honorary invitees were told this year to skip the Par 3 Contest. The logistics of trying to complete the contest in the time allotted with the growing numbers was just too much.

Augusta National chairman Billy Payne said more tournament players and former Masters champions wanted to play the Par 3 Contest, "stretching out the required time to complete it to a point that it became exceedingly difficult to do it." It wasn't really an issue this year. The Par 3 was called off by bad weather.

But the event has increasingly become one of the highlights of the week, televised by ESPN and featuring everyone from former greats such as six-time masters champion Jack Nicklaus to the young children of players, bounding around the nine-hole course in their white caddie coveralls.
